Background Information

Brackley's first Official Plan was completed in 1988. Since then, Official Plans and Development Bylaws were adopted in 1999, 2006, May 2014 and May 2019. The May 2019 version of the official plan and bylaws incorporated the area of the former Rural Municipality of Winsloe South which amalgamated with Brackley on December 2, 2017. The Plan and Development Bylaw have to meet the objectives of the Charlottetown Region Special Planning Area which are set out in Subsection 61(3) of the Subdivision & Development Regulations. They state:

61(3) The specific objectives for development within the Stratford Region Special Planning Area, the Charlottetown Region Special Planning Area, the Cornwall Region Special Planning Area, and the Summerside Region Special Planning Area are:

- (a) to minimize the extent to which un-serviced, residential, commercial and industrial development may occur;
- (b) to sustain the rural community by limiting future urban or suburban residential development and non-resource commercial and industrial development in order to minimize the loss of primary industry lands to non-resource land uses;
and
- (c) to minimize the potential for conflicts between resource uses and urban residential, commercial and industrial uses.

The Rural Municipality of Brackley is somewhat unique among the rural communities contained in the Special Planning Areas as parts of the Rural Municipality are already serviced by Central Water and sanitary sewer from the City of Charlottetown and are therefore deemed under the Regulations to be serviced. The established land patterns within Brackley, particularly in the southern portion of the Brackley Point and Union Road area, are already somewhat "urban" in nature with significant commercial and industrial development. This area can no longer be characterized as "rural" in terms of its land use and farming and other resource activities are becoming less dominant and viable. This requires Council to interpret the above noted SPA objectives in a sensitive and appropriate fashion given the established development and character of this area of the municipality.

Brackley evolved primarily as an agricultural community. One of the goals stated in the current plan is for the Rural Municipality of Brackley to “continue to be a rural agricultural community while supporting residential development in appropriate areas, and promoting recreational and institutional services for its residents.”

The Municipality recognizes that some development is bypassing Brackley because of the Special Planning Area restrictions. The City of Charlottetown’s boundary is adjacent to Brackley, and the City has a major wellfield in Brackley which supplies water to the City and some landowners in Brackley. Another City of Charlottetown Wellfield is located just outside the boundaries of the Brackley Municipality in Miltonvale Park and part of the Coles Creek Watershed capture zone for this central water supply is located within the Winsloe South portion of the Rural Municipality of Brackley. Groundwater protection measures for these wellfields are to be incorporated into this official plan and bylaw review.

The Planning Act requires a review of its Official Plan and Development Bylaw within five - year intervals to ensure they remain current, and the Municipality is developing in accordance with the wishes of the residents. Recent amendments have been made to the 2019 Development Bylaw - regarding the location of solar panels, operation of food trucks and # of lots allowed in subdivision of an “existing parcel”. Future bylaws changes include a new provision to prohibit the creation of new excavation pits within the municipality.

Study Components

To meet the present and future needs of the community and to comply with the requirements of the Planning Act, the Rural Municipality of Brackley is preparing to undergo a review of its Official Plan and Development Plan. The Municipality is seeking a consultant who is familiar with Brackley, its residents and its issues to review its Official Plan and Development Bylaw. Input from the residents is imperative.

Official Plan and Bylaw Review

The consultant will review the current Official Plan, provide recommendations on possible changes, incorporate changes based on public input, prepare a draft plan, complete updates and prepare a final plan that is suitable for adoption by the Municipal Council. This plan should have a strong element of public consultation and be developed around a future envisioned by the people who work and live within each area of the community. This Official Plan should also consider four pillars which are critical to the long-term well-being of communities and people.

These are: (1) the natural environment including protection of surface water and groundwater resources, (2) the social elements of communities, (3) the local and regional economy, and (4) culture and heritage. The overall goal of the plan will be:

To continue to be primarily a rural community while allowing properly planned and environmentally sound residential, commercial and industrial development to occur in designated areas and to encourage recreational opportunities and institutional facilities for our residents.

Along with the Official Plan Review the consultant will be responsible for the review of the Development Bylaw to reflect any new Official Plan policies and Zoning and Future Land Use Maps. Consultation with the planners in the Lands Division of the Provincial Dept of Housing, Lands and Communities regarding the interaction with the Special Planning Area Regulations of the Provincial Planning Act. Review of any decisions made by the Island Regulatory Appeals Commission (IRAC) regarding developments or appeals in the Brackley Rural Municipality shall also be incorporated into this review.

The consultant shall ensure the Official Plan and Development Bylaw is in a format that is concise, in plain language, and easy to use and understand.

Areas subject to review include the following:

- Zoning and Land Use –Residential, Agricultural, Commercial, Industrial, Community and Institutional Uses
- Transportation
- Municipal Infrastructure
- Community Sustainability including sustainable development.
- Natural Environment - Recreation and Open Space, Environmental Protection and Watershed Issues, Wellfield Protection.
- Social, Culture and Heritage Economics
- Resiliency, Viability, including Emergency Preparedness,
- Capacity Building, Collaboration, Partnerships and Public Engagement
- Legally binding and enforceable wording.
- Additional provisions for bylaw enforcement.

Public Consultation and Input

During the project the consultant will be required to be involved in the public consultation process and will attend and make presentations at both preliminary and required public meetings. The consultant shall be prepared to attend a minimum of three (3) public consultation meetings. The consultant will be required to present preliminary findings to the Planning Board and meet with them on a regular basis to review progress. The consultant will also be responsible for presenting the final draft of the Official Plan and Development Bylaw to the Municipal Council and the public.

Before the final drafts are completed Council requires that it is to be reviewed by legal counsel licensed to practice on Prince Edward Island to ensure that the documents are legally enforceable in accordance with the laws of Prince Edward Island. Any changes suggested by the legal counsel are then to be incorporated in the final draft for each document.

Plan Advisory Committee

The council has designated the current Rural Municipality of Brackley Planning Board as its Plan Advisory Committee to oversee the review of the Official Plan and Development Bylaw. The Planning Board will be active in the public input process and attend each meeting to gain input from the public. Although the Planning Board may assist the consultant with obtaining information from external agencies, it will primarily be the consultant's responsibility to obtain such information. Planning Board meetings are held as required to review development and subdivision proposals.

The Planning Board currently consists of two members of council and three citizen members, development officer, plus the CAO with the mayor as an ex-officio member.
